Revolution Songs

for Soprano, Violin, Cello, and Piano

March 7—April 30, 2026

Duration: about 18' for Eric Pritchard

In early March, 2026, my long-time collaborator Eric Pritchard asked me to arrange some Revolutionary War songs (and one from just before the Civil War) for soprano and piano trio. This was to be performed at Duke University at the end of May at a concert celebrating the 250th birthday of the US of A. Here are details about each song.

I. The Congress [4:20]

I thought I would get a start by setting pro-Tory lyrics by Jonathan Odell (1737-1818) to his song from 1776. Odell had a lot of fun publishing poems against the Revolution and in support of the Crown, and for his efforts had to flee to Nova Scotia and then to New Brunswick, as so many others did in those days. The original composition used the tune “Nancy Dawson”, which I didn’t use at all in this work; this is the only song in this cycle where the music is entirely my own.

II. Young Ladies In Town [2’]

In 1768, Bostonians refused to import commodities from Great Britain unless the import duties were repealed. The Boston News Letter published an anonymous poem asking young women to only wear American-made cloth (much like Gandhi would do to end the British Raj 140 years later). The melody used for this poem is a Scottish traditional tune frequently used for the song “Barbara Allen”. I’ve taken many liberties with the melody, and all the rest is my own.

III. The American Vicar of Bray [6']

This began with the 17th century folk melody “Country Gardens”, used in The Quaker’s Opera of 1728. “The Vicar of Bray” is a satire based on this tune about a vicar who switches sides repeatedly during changes in the Established Church through the reigns of several monarchs to keep his job. A parody of this parody, “The American Vicar of Bray”, with the same chorus, came out in Rivington’s Royal Gazette in 1779, poking fun at the shifting loyalties of some colonists during the war. This song, after my mutilation, is, therefore, a parody of a parody of a parody of a parody. The original is ten verses plus choruses; I have omitted two verses and only used the chorus three times. The penultimate verse uses the melody “Over the Stone”, a Welsh song composed after the Battle of Bosworth Field in 1485.

IV. My Love Is Gone To Sea [2:30]

This song is from a collection of eight published in 1788, composed by Francis Hopkinson and dedicated to George Washington. Hopkinson was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and was an important figure in the Revolutionary War era. He was the first published American composer. I used the lyrics and (once again) took many liberties with the tune, with all else being my own.

V. The Union Forever [2:30]

John H. Hewitt published “The Union Forever” in 1850 to cheer on the anti-secession and anti-slavery factions in the decade before the Civil War. He used a tune from Lucia di Lammermoor by Gaetano Donizetti. While this may seem out of place in a collection of Revolutionary War songs, the goal of the Revolution, one unified country free from foreign domination, only happened after the Civil War—when the United States became a singular, not plural, noun. All besides melody and lyrics is either mine or stolen from the best sources.

Lyrics

I. The Congress (1776)

Ye, Tories all rejoice and sing, success to George our gracious King.
The faithful subjects tribute bring, and execrate the Congress.
These hardy knaves and stupid fools, some apish and pragmatic mules,
Some servile acquiescing tools,
These compose the Congress.
Then Jove resolve to send a curse, and all the woes of life rehearse Not plague, not famine, but much worse,
He cursed us with a Congress.
Then peace forsook this hopeless shore,
Then cannons blazed with horrid roar,
We hear of blood, death, wounds, and gore,
The offspring of the Congress.
Prepare, prepare, my friends prepare,
For scenes of blood, the field of war
To royal standard we'll repair,
And curse the haughty Congress.
Huzza! Huzza! And thrice Huzza!
Return peace, harmony, and law!
Restore such times as once we saw,
And bid adieu to Congress.

Jonathan Odel

II. Young Ladies in Town

1) Young ladies in town, and those that live 'round
Wear none but your own country linen;
Of economy boast, let your pride be the most
To show clothes of your own make and spinnin'.
What if homespun, they say, be not quite as gay

As brocades. Be not in a passion For once it is known 'tis much worn in town
One and all will cry out 'tis the fashion!

2) And as one all agree, that you'll not married be,
To such as will wear London factory;
But at first sight refuse, tell 'em such you will choose,
As encourage our own manufactory.
No more ribbons wear, nor in rich silks appear,
Love your country much better than fine things,
Begin without passion, 'twill soon be the fashion,
To grace your smooth locks with a twine string.

3) Throw away your bohea, and your green hyson tea,
And all things of a new fashioned duty;
Get in a good store of the choice
Labrador,
There'll soon be enough here to suit ye.
These do without fear and to all you'll appear,
Fair charming, true, lovely and clever,
Though the times remain darkish,
Young men will be sparkish,
And love you much stronger than ever.

III. The American Vicar of Bray (edited for length)

1) When Royal George rul'd o'er this land,
And loyalty no harm meant,

For church and king I made a stand,
And so I got preferment.
I still opposed all party tricks,
For reasons I thought clear ones,
And swore it was their politics,
To make us Presbyterians.

Chorus

And this is law I will maintain,
Until my dying day, sir,
Let whatsoever king will reign,
I'll be the Vicar of Bray, sir.

2) When Stamp Act pas'd the Parliament,
To bring some grist to mill, sir,
To back it was my firm intent,
But soon there came repeal, sir.
I quickly join'd the common cry,
That we should all be slaves, sir,
The House of Commons was a sty,
The King and Lords were knaves, sir.
(Chorus)

3) A Congress now was quickly call'd,
That we might act together;
I thought that Britain would apall'd
Be glad to make fair weather,
And soon repeal th' obnoxious bill,
As she had done before, sir,
That we may gather wealth at will,
And so be tax'd no more, sir.
(Chorus)

4) But Britain was not quickly scar'd,
She told another story;
When independence was declar'd,
I figur'd as a Tory;
Declar'd it was rebellion base,
To take up arms -- I curs'd it--
For faith it seemed a settled case,
That we should soon be worsted.

5) The French alliance now came forth,
The papists flocked in shoals, sir,
Friseur Marquises, Valets of birth,
And priests to save our souls, sir.
Our "good ally," with tow'ring wing,
Embrac'd the flattering hope, sir,
That we should own him for our king,
And then invite the Pope, sir.
(Chorus)

6) When Howe, with drums and great parade,
March'd through this famous town, sir,
I cried, "May Fame his temples shade
"With laurels for a crown, sir."
With zeal I swore to make amends
To good old constitution,
And drank confusion to the friends
Of our late revolution.

7) But poor Burgoyne's denounced my fate,
The Whigs began to glory,
I now bewail'd my wretched state,
That I was e'er a Tory,
By night the British left the shore,
Nor car'd for friends a fig, sir,
I turn'd the cat in pan once more,
And so became a Whig, sir.

8) I call'd the army butch'ring dogs,
A bloody tyrant King, sir,
The Commons, Lords, a set of rogues,
That all deserved to swing, sir.
Since fate has made us great and free,
And Providence can't falter,
So long till death my king shall be,
Unless the times should alter.
(Chorus)

(from Rivington's Royal Gazette, June 30, 1779)

IV. My Love Is Gone To Sea

1) My love is gone to sea,
Whilst I his absence mourn,
No joy shall smile on me
Until my love return,
He ask'd me for his bride,
And many vows he swore,
I blushed and soon complied
I blushed and soon complied,
My heart was his before,
My heart was his,
My heart was his before.

2) One little month was past,
And who so blest as we,
The summons came at last,
And Jemmy must to sea,
I saw his ship so gay,
Swift fly the wave-worn shore,
I wiped my tears away,
I wiped my tears away,
And saw his ship no more,
No more, no more,
And saw his ship no more.

3) When clouds shut in the sky,
And storms around me howl,
When livid lightnings fly,
And threatening thunders roll,
All hopes of rest are lost,
No slumbers visit me,
My anxious thoughts are toss'd,
My anxious thoughts are toss'd,
With Jemmy on the sea,
My thoughts are toss'd
With Jemmy on the sea.

Francis Hopkinson

V. The Union Forever!

1) Proud land of the free! Where the exile seeks rest,
And blesses the flag that waves o'er him;
Where plenty is strewn o'er the earth's verdant breast,
And man sees no danger before him.
The cry of disunion has sail'd on the air,
And traitors thy strong bonds would sever;
The demon of discord has crawl'd from his lair,
While patriots cry "Union forever!"

Chorus

Then up with our Flag! Give its Stripes to the wind,
Its Stars shall be prostrated never!
We'll leave our lov'd homes and their treasures behind
And fight for the Union forever!

2) There are hearts at the North that are true to the cause,
The South hath its Patriots
undaunted;
The East and the West have their friends of the laws,
Who will always be ready when wanted.
Then, who is there fears for a Union so strong,
That the Federal Compact shall perish?
It shall last, while the sun in its pride rolls along,
And Washington's mem'ry we cherish.

Chorus

The musical score is written for voice and piano. It consists of several systems of staves. The first system (measures 103-105) features a vocal line with lyrics 'Re - turn peace, har - mo-ny, and' and a piano accompaniment. The second system (measures 106-108) includes a vocal line with the word 'law!' and a piano accompaniment. The third system (measures 109-111) features a vocal line with lyrics 'Re - store such times as once we saw, And' and a piano accompaniment. The score includes various musical notations such as dynamics (p, mf, f), articulation (accents, slurs), and performance instructions (crescendo, piano, fortissimo). The piano part includes a 'Rec.' (Recitativo) marking in measures 103, 106, and 109.

The musical score is written for Violin, Cello, Soprano, and Piano. The key signature is one sharp (F#) and the time signature is 2/4. The tempo is marked 'A Fresh Breeze (♩ = 80)'. The score begins with a piano introduction (measures 1-6) featuring the violin and cello playing a melody with a forte (f) dynamic, and the piano providing harmonic support with a 'tenuto' marking. The vocal entry (measure 7) is marked with a first ending bracket. The lyrics are: 'My love is gone to sea, Whilst I his ab-sence mourn, No joy shall smile on'. The piano accompaniment continues with a steady eighth-note pattern. The vocal line continues with a second ending bracket (measure 13) and the lyrics: 'me Until my love re - turn, He ask'd me for his bride, And ma-ny vows he'. The piano accompaniment continues with a steady eighth-note pattern.
